

Nationals' Third Came of Series With Naps—Foot Ball Begins Today

GRIFITH TO KEEP JOHNSON IN RESERVE FOR HARD GAMES

Walter Not to Pitch Against Naps Today, So Will Be in Good Shape to Meet Detroit and Athletics.

BY J. ED GRILLO.

CLEVELAND, September 26.—Walter Johnson will not be used in the game of the Nationals to play here today. The Nationals are to play here today, and the Griffiths will not be worked as hard today, and, according to Griffith, Johnson will not be worked as hard today. The pitching will be turned over to Shaw, Williams and Ayers, with Harper in reserve.

Griffith is holding Johnson for the game in Detroit tomorrow. He wants to see the "Big Boy" stand a chance to win. Johnson is also slated to pitch two of the games, the Nationals have with the Athletics—the first one in Washington Wednesday and the last one in Philadelphia Saturday. Johnson has displayed splendid form of late, and has an even break he should win all these games; that is, if the change which Griffith has instituted by not working him for four or five days, does not prove injurious.

James A. McAleer, erstwhile president of the Boston Red Sox and at one time manager of the Nationals, was an interested spectator at yesterday's game. McAleer came up from his home at Youngsford, N. H., to see his former charges play. He visited the players in the clubhouse before the game, and had a protracted chat with Manager Griffith, to whom he admitted that he was not engaged in any business just now and that he did not expect ever to be during the rest of his life. McAleer thereby indicated that he had fared well in his dealings with the Boston club and has plenty of this world's goods.

Jack Bentley pitched well enough yesterday to win an ordinary game, but being hard luck to have Chapman's hit go safe in the third inning, netting the Naps a couple of runs. Bentley has been working a good deal on this trip, however, and might show to better advantage if he were given needed rest. The chances are that he will not appear again until the Monday game at Detroit.

For the first time since Dick Williams has been with the team he displayed yesterday a real pitching ability in the fifth inning of yesterday's game. He cut loose and showed so much stuff that Manager Griffith had to save him for the game. He had two hits and two strikes on him, when McBride attempted to steal and was thrown out, retiring the side in Williams' of course, was not at bat and could have been used to hit for Harper, who succeeded Bentley, in the next inning, but instead Shanks was sent in to bat for Harper.

The Nationals leave here by boat tonight for Detroit, where games are to be played Sunday and Monday. Tuesday is an off day, and the team will start for Washington Monday night, providing neither one of the two scheduled games is postponed, in which event Tuesday may be utilized to play off the second postponed contest.

While it is true that the Boston Braves have made one of the most remarkable finishes in the history of baseball, the fact should not be overlooked that in making this remarkable spurt the Stallings team has not been against any huge ball teams of the class, for they do not exist in the National League this year. But in the world series the Braves will be up against one of the greatest clubs the game has ever produced, and then they will have an opportunity to give a correct impression of their own strength.

On paper there is absolutely no comparison between the two teams, and yet that does not mean that the Braves are sure to have their supporters, and they may come through and beat the Mackmen in a majority of the games, but if they accomplish that feat Stallings has a team which will be given credit for being much more formidable than any one thought.

Thanks to a victory which the Yankees scored over the Tigers yesterday, the Nationals are in a position to win the series. The Yankees scored over the Tigers yesterday, and the Nationals are in a position to win the series.

FALL TO HIT STEEN

And Nationals Lose Game to Naps by 1 to 3.

Griffith Get Only Three Safeties Off Spitball Pitcher—Three.

Pitchers Used.

BY J. ED GRILLO.

CLEVELAND, September 26.—Inability to hit the spitball which "Big Rip" Steen hurled caused the defeat of the Nationals in the third game of the series yesterday. The score was 3 to 1. The best they could do against the moistened delivery of Steen was a single run, while the Naps got three.

Bentley's expense, though two of these were the result of a scratch hit with which Chapman was credited in the third inning. But for this fuke drive, a dropping fly over Gandil's head with two on and two out, the chances are the Griffins would have won.

But with a two-run lead to work on, Steen took a lot of liberty with his spitter and was also helped by the fact that he has confidence.

Griffith used three pitchers. Bentley was relieved after the sixth, in which round he allowed the final run for the Naps. Harper pitched the seventh and eighth, which was the final score. The Nationals were there were few opportunities for the Nationals to get runs. In fact, up to the seventh inning they had made only one hit, a single with which Pick was credited in the fourth. After that they got two more, Henry hit for three bases in the seventh and scored when McBride drove a single to center.

In the third the Naps scored two runs. Barbare got a scratch on a high bouncer over Bentley's head. Then he hit Wood. Bentley was walked. Smith's grounder to Gandil moved both men up and then Chapman with two and three on him happened to reach curve and hit it over Gandil's head. Both runs scored and Chapman pulled up at second.

Bentley filled the bases in the sixth with one man out. He walked Chapman, who stole, and then hit Wood. Liebold got a scratch infield hit, filling the bases, and when Lajoie sent a grounder, the Naps were in position to score. But two more, Henry hit for three bases in the seventh and scored when McBride drove a single to center.

METROPOLITAN GOLF TEAM

DEFEATS PENNSYLVANIANS

Victors Will Play Massachusetts Today in Lesley Cup Series Over the Baltusrol Course.

NEW YORK, September 26.—The Metropolitan Golf Association yesterday won its match against the representatives of the Pennsylvania State Golf Association yesterday at Baltusrol in the first of the tri-state contests for the Lesley cup by nine matches to six.

The match was played on the Baltusrol course, which is the home of the Metropolitan Golf Association, who are the holders of the cup, in the decisive tie today.

There was a close contest in the foursomes, for Metropolitan was only able to gather in the odd match after twenty holes had been played. The score stood 2 to 2, and the leading players fought it out for the odd point. W. C. Fowner, Jr., and George A. Ormiston were opposed to Oswald Kirkby, the Metropolitan amateur champion, and Fred Herreshoff, who were all square at the turn, but the Pennsylvania representative drew ahead for a time, then the Metropolitan players began to overhaul them.

When the match was down to two, Fowner and Ormiston were able to drive, pulled his shot into some rocks and after removing half the stone wall Fowner was able to play. Through this incident Kirkby and Herreshoff squared the match on the home hole, and after a half in 5 at the nineteenth won the match, with the fourth through Kirkby's laying an approach putt for a 4. The others could not get their half, and the foursomes went to the Metropolitan by three matches to two.
